In this edition, we share stories of the recent diaconate ordinations of Jesuits in formation. We hope you enjoy news of the Jesuit Provincial's Dinner celebrated on April 12th and our Mother's/Father's Day Masses held on May 14th and June 18th at the chapel located within the René Goupil Jesuit infirmary in Pickering, ON. There is a wonderful article featuring Father Jean Francky Guerrier, SJ our Coordinator of Programs for Haiti and his continuing journey for the greater glory of God. We are pleased to profile our long-time friend and supporter Donald Wong. We are proud to share details of our Assistant Director Colleen Franks' pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Our apostolate featured this newsletter is the Ignatian Spirituality Centre of Montreal.

The Jesuit Office of Advancement and the Jesuit priests and brothers we support thank you for your continued prayers and generosity. Your gifts of support continue to be vital in the formation of young Jesuits, the care of our senior Jesuits, and Jesuit ministries in Canada and around the world.

The Jesuits pray for you daily and hope you enjoy the newsletter.

Wishing you a blessed summer.

Respectfully yours in Christ,

Director, Office of Advancement

In his homily, Bishop Camilleri encouraged the ordinandi to be models of loving service according to the order they were to receive. Father Gilles Mongeau, SJ, socius to the Jesuits of Canada, came to represent the provincial superior.

Father Provincial, Erik Oland, SJ was in Paris with two other men of the Province of Canada, Brook Stacey, SJ & Maréus Tousséliat, SJ, who were being ordained to the diaconate on the same day by the Archbishop of Athens, the Most Rev. Theodoros Kontidis, SJ, at Saint Ignace church in Paris.

On May 27, Curtis McKenzie, SJ was ordained to the diaconate at St. Basil Ukrainian Catholic Seminary in Stamford, CT by the Most Rev. Paul Chomnycky, OSBM, Bishop of the Diocese of Stamford, CT.

Meet our newest deacons:

Originally from Winnipeg, Matthew Hendzel, SJ is a member of the Jesuit Province of Canada & Haiti, while Raymond Parcon, SJ, comes from the Philippines, and was ordained for the United States Jesuits West Province.

Hendzel was studying at the University of Manitoba where he took a class with Jesuit Father David Creamer, who helped him learn more about the Society of Jesus. Hendzel has a PhD in systematic theology.

Prior to joining the Jesuits, Parcon earned a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the Ateneo de Davao University in the Philippines, a master's degree in software engineering from the National University in Costa Mesa, CA, and an advanced computer security certificate from Stanford University's Center for Professional Development.

Brook Stacey, SJ is originally from Toronto while Maréus Tousséliat, SJ, is from Haiti. Stacey studied engineering and earth sciences before joining the Jesuits while Tousséliat had a degree in philosophy.

Curtis McKenzie, SJ is originally from Saskatoon, SK. Prior to joining the Jesuits, McKenzie earned a Bachelor of Commerce and professional designation as a C.P.A. This led to an 18-year career in corporate finance, private equity, mergers & acquisitions, and various executive roles in the banking, aviation, and energy sectors.

NB. Priestly ordinations will take place later this summer and will be included in the winter 2024 issue of the newsletter. ■

15th Annual Jesuit Provincial's Dinner Toronto

April 12, 2023 - The Bellvue Manor

On April 12, 2023, Jesuits and friends gathered to honour Magis award recipient, Rosella Kinoshameg, and Golden Jesuit Jubilarians Father Godefroy Midy, SJ and Father David Nazar, SJ at the 15th Annual Jesuit Provincial's Dinner – Toronto.

This annual fundraising dinner which helps raise funds for men in formation, acknowledges Jesuits celebrating 50 years in the Society, and presents the Magis award to noteworthy recipients.

Rosella has had a long friendship with the Jesuits of Canada having co-laboured in the Indigenous Apostolate for almost 40 years. She has been a key figure in the Province's understanding of Indigenous-Christian spirituality and has served as a bridge-builder between the Indigenous and non-Indigenous. Her extensive volunteer work has brought people closer to Christ through a deeper understanding and incorporating of Indigenous traditions, culture, and symbols.

As a registered nurse and healthcare professional, Rosella was a key figure in the province's study of diabetes in Indigenous peoples, during the 1990's. As Chair of the Wasseandimiikaaning Board of Trustees, Rosella has worked closely with the Jesuits at the Anishinabe Spiritual Centre and other Jesuits on important Indigenous issues. Her service extends beyond the Anishinabe sector of the diocese to the national level, where she served as a founding member of the Catholic Aboriginal Council of the Canadian Catholic Conference of Bishops.

In 2000, she was mandated a DOS, (Diocesan Order of Service), which was inaugurated in 1975 and is unique to the Sault Ste. Marie Diocese. It is granted to laypersons who wishes to make a lasting commitment to service in the Church. In 1996, Rosella was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Sacred Letters from Regis College, Toronto. The papal medal Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice was bestowed on Rosella in 2015. This "Cross of Honour Medal," is conferred by the Pope for distinguished service to the Church.

Rosella's ties to the Jesuits started early in her life. She was baptized by Jesuit Father J. Dwyer and made her First Communion at the Residential School in Spanish. She and her husband were married in Sudbury by Jesuit Father Daniel Hannin. Her late father was a church organist who always took the family to Mass.

An Odawa/Ojibway from the Wikwemikong Unceded First Nation Territory, Manitoulin Island, Rosella is the youngest of 12 children. Married for 54 years, she is a mother of five, grandmother of seven, and great-grandmother of three.

The Jesuits celebrating 50 years in the Society of Jesus are Father Godefroy Midy, SJ and Father David Nazar, SJ.

Born in 1932, Fr. Midy was born in Haiti. After receiving his PhD in Montreal, his apostolic commitments have extended throughout the Church of Haiti: at the Haitian Conference of Religious, as a companion of the steering committee and advisor in various commissions, throughout the dioceses, archdioceses and religious congregations. He was a leading figure in the widespread movement within the Church that led to the fall of the Duvalier dictatorship in 1986. Midy was the main architect of the establishment of the Society of Jesus in Haiti after the departure of the Duvaliers. Today, he is a member of the vocational discernment team for the Jesuits of Haiti, a lecturer, and a retreat leader in several religious congregations. He is also a member of the team of the Manrèse Spirituality Centre.

Born to a family of Ukrainian immigrants in Canada, Fr. Nazar had the unique experience of practicing faith in two different Rites, the Byzantine and Latin, in the Catholic Church. He established the Jesuit District in Ukraine, served as its provincial superior and was also involved in the Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) there. Prior to his work overseas, he served as provincial superior of the Jesuits in the English Canada Province, superior in the Jesuit community in Manitoulin, Espanola, pastor at Wikwemikong and superior of the Jesuit community in Ottawa. Since 2002, he has been overseas where he served as professor of theology in Moscow and superior of the Jesuits in Ukraine for 13 years, along with many other responsibilities. Since 2015, Fr. Nazar, has been serving as rector of the Pontifical Oriental Institute in Rome. Known as the Orientale, this Catholic institution of higher education is the premier centre for the study of Eastern Christianity in Rome. It is one of three international academic institutes the Holy See has entrusted to the Jesuits. ■

Mother's Day Mass – an Annual Tradition

On May 14, René Goupil Chapel in the Province Infirmary in Pickering held the annual Office of Advancement Mother's Day Mass.

Jesuit Father Michael Coutts, SJ, who is well-known for the National Catholic Broadcasting Council's TV Mass, presided.

The annual Mass honours all mothers, grandmothers, sisters, aunts, guardians and all the special women in the lives of donors. Batches of carnations placed around the sanctuary symbolized these women and the prayer intentions sent in by Jesuit supporters.

On Father's Day, June 18, René Goupil Chapel also held the annual Father's Day Mass to honour all the important fathers, grandfathers, uncles, and special men in people's lives. ■

JESUIT PROFILE

A Man with Great Hope for Haiti: Father Jean Francky Guerrier, SJ

Jesuit Father Jean Francky Guerrier, SJ wants everyone to know that despite all the hardships in his native Haiti, there are still great signs of progress and hope in the work the Jesuits are doing there.

"This is our strength as Jesuits, being committed, to never lose hope when everything seems over," says Francky. "We have to always do our best and improve things."

Francky, who serves as coordinator of programs for Haiti, says donors should be assured that their generosity goes a long way in Haiti. In addition to their novitiate, the Jesuits have the spirituality centre, the parish of Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Ouanaminthe north-east and the parish of St. Therese in Jeremie Grand'Anse, the Jesuit Migrant Service - Solidarité Fwontalye, the St. Ignatius of Loyola High School and several Foie et Joie schools with an associated teacher training institute. With so much good happening, it's frustrating when a donor says, "nothing has changed."

"Donations make a huge difference and a positive impact," says Francky. He adds that he is extremely grateful to anyone open to helping the Jesuits impact people's lives there.

"We thank God for supporters' generosity and for always standing by the Haitians," says Francky. "I invite everyone to participate in the projects of the Jesuits, who work very hard for the good and dignity of the Haitian people."

Originally from Croix-des-Bouquets, Haiti, Francky was born into a faithful Catholic family with six siblings.

Even though he was very active in the Redemptorists' parish of St. Gerard, they told him the Jesuits were a better fit for him. After high school he studied computer science and contacted the Jesuits in Haiti.

In 2008, he entered the Jesuits at Port-au-Prince. He taught math, studied philosophy and humanities. Francky caught the radio bug at a radio station run by the Jesuits in the Dominican Republic. Back in Haiti he worked as the communication and advocacy officer for the Jesuit Migrant Service-Haiti and as a coordinator of several projects funded by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. Francky also taught at Notre Dame de Cazeau Seminary. He was then sent to Canada for studies at Regis College.

In Toronto, along with studies, he hosted the show Talking with Francky on Salt + Light Media and attended acting/improv classes at The Second City Toronto. It wasn't too much of a stretch since he had previously worked in theatre in Haiti.

Throughout his formation, he says he was always invited to contemplate Christ who became flesh, not to be served, but to serve.

"The word service characterizes my entire formation," says Francky. "For Ignatius of Loyola, our entire existence as Jesuits has no other meaning than to love and serve God in all things."

Nothing speaks more to this than a profound experience he had as a novice. While completing the Spiritual Exercises in Haiti in 2010, a devastating earthquake hit Haiti killing more than 300,000. The Exercises were stopped, the novitiate opened to receive the displaced, and novices went to the streets of Port-au-Prince and beyond to help those in need.

He calls being a Jesuit a "privilege and a challenge" and tells young men considering joining to pray to Mary. "Before you join, pray deeply about it and ask Mary for guidance, ask her to put you with her son Jesus Christ so that you can know how to carry a cross with the crucified Lord and how to associate with the glorified Lord," says Francky. ■

Putting Words into Action: the Wong Family

One of the joys in Donald Wong's life is helping strangers know Jesus Christ. This past April, he brought someone with no faith to the Church. It was a friend he met at a park while the two were watching their children play. And even though Wong has spent years bringing people to the faith, he wasn't always active in it.

An only child, Wong was born to a homemaker mother and a doctor father who died in his sleep when Wong was only 10.

"I had a hard time accepting God," says Wong. "Life was tough for the first 25 years of my life."

But the journey to his Catholic faith was one helped along by a Benedictine hermit and reading greats like G.K. Chesterton and C.S. Lewis. Since becoming a Catholic, his wife and his mother, former atheists, have also been baptized.

Wong first heard about the Jesuits through movies and stories of their missionary work when he was in his twenties. He and his wife Diana were married at the Jesuit parish of Our Lady of Lourdes in Toronto, where their children, Wesley, Charlotte, Maximilian, and Ignatius, were baptized.

"Faith is the centre of our family, and it guides our decisions," says Wong. "We try to reinvest a significant portion of our income into the community."

The family bought many acres to declare as conservation land. They run affordable housing under co-op and rent-to-own agreements with tenants. They operate St. Maximilian Retreat House as a non-profit where there is a small library of books by Jesuits, copies of St. Ignatius of Loyola's Spiritual Exercises and the 2016 movie about the saint's life. For many years, small groups and pastoral teams alike have found solace at this place.

Wong and his family also sponsor overseas missions, like a Christian school and social enterprise in Myanmar. They have supported Jesuits in China and Taipei and plan to broaden support for more missionary work overseas.

And, of course, the family generously supports the Jesuits of Canada, including men in formation, the infirmary, scholarships and the priests and brothers in Haiti.

A regular attendee of Jesuit events, Wong says he looks for opportunities to learn more about the lives of Jesuits and says he is grateful for their work and inspiration. He is inspired by men like Fr. Tony Van Hee, SJ, and those who fight for the unborn. Annually, the family issues three scholarship awards recognizing students for their work in defending the unborn.

"The Jesuits leave the 99 to find the one lost, even if it means persecution upon them," says Wong. He adds: "No other order has been so controversial, so persecuted and offered so much to broaden Christendom." ■

Experiences of Encounter

- The Ignatian Spirituality Centre of Montreal

Rooted in the Ignatian tradition, the Ignatian Spirituality Centre of Montreal, ISCM, encourages experiences of encounter, communion, interiority, accompaniment, and formation to help people discover their spiritual paths and to flourish.

“The Ignatian Spirituality Centre of Montreal is a place of exploration, a part of one’s spiritual journey and where God meets and leads each person,” says director of the ISCM, Father Kevin Kelly, SJ.

Founded by the Jesuits in 1913, the ISCM is now at two locations: Villa Saint-Martin, which is situated on the waterfront of the Lac des Deux-Montagnes at the western tip of the Island of Montreal, and the Wickham Centre centrally located in the heart of Montreal in the Maison Bellarmin at the corner of Jarry Street West and Boul. Saint-Laurent.

In the summer of 2021, the two Ignatian spirituality centres came together to form a bilingual, ecumenical apostolate focused on spiritual formation and accompaniment as well as retreats for individuals and groups for all people in Montreal and beyond.

Reaching out to anyone who is searching is the primary goal of the ISCM. “We welcome a variety of Christian organizations,” Kelly explains: “and see this ministry becoming a significant support for the Catholic Church of Montreal, its surrounding dioceses, as well as other Christian churches. There’s so much need to help engage clergy, pastoral associates, and religious communities that are getting older and maybe don’t have their own means of animating their own retreats.”

In terms of outreach to young adults, the ISCM has always had connections with the Newman Centre and Catholic Christian Outreach, and has begun to offer young people spiritual accompaniment and retreats. Some high schools, including Loyola High School’s KAIROS student-led retreats, already take place as the Villa Saint-Martin and continue to look at expanding into more Catholic and public schools.

The aim is to reach not only people already familiar with Ignatian spirituality, but all people, from different faith traditions or with no religious affiliation. “A lot of the work we do is to help people to first understand where God is acting in their lives,” says Kelly. “We are trying to support spirituality as a discovery process for individuals using the tools that are core to Ignatian spirituality.”

The ISCM programs are unique and include reaching out to the marginalized in Montreal. They’ve partnered with Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) to offer retreats for newcomers to Canada as well as reaching out to people truly on the margins of society.

“A lot of the work we do is to help people to first understand where God is acting in their lives.

Kelly has experience with this type of ambitious endeavor, he previously helped co-found the Canadian arm of the Ignatian Spirituality Project (ISP), now called STIR (Spiritual Transformation in Recovery) Retreats in Toronto, which offers spiritual aid to those experiencing homelessness and addiction. In Montreal, the ISCM is working with other religious communities to bring the ISP to Montreal.

Kelly says, “We want to make retreats available to anybody. We can subsidize them and we really want to make this experience available to everybody who is wanting to explore their spirituality.”

For anyone visiting Villa Saint-Martin, it provides retreatants with an environment of natural beauty, peace, and tranquility away from the noise and distractions of city life. The environment is well suited for deep prayer and reflection. The Wickham Centre is centrally located and provides ideal spaces for accompaniment, workshops, and formation.

Spiritual formation helps individuals regardless of income, education, faith tradition, or life experience, develop an increased awareness of God’s presence in everyday life, allowing for more meaning, purpose, gratitude, wonder and joy to take root.

The ISCM has been training people in spiritual accompaniment for 50 years. Spiritual directors accompany people in their desire for a closer friendship and relationship with God.

For more on the ISCM, if you seek spiritual accompaniment or want to attend an accompanier retreat please visit the website at: ignatiancentremtl.org ■

Pilgrimage to the Holy Land

This past spring, Colleen Franks, Assistant Director of the Office of Advancement was able to take her annual vacation in the form of a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, Egypt, and Turkey, with a group led by Jesuit Father Robert Wong, SJ. The pilgrimage took place from April 23 – May 9. This is a short reflection of her trip.

On April 23, I left Toronto for London, where I would join a group of pilgrims from western Canada, led by Father Robert Wong. I was a little apprehensive about the journey since I knew only one fellow pilgrim. Fortunately, it didn't take long for me to feel welcomed by this very kind and curious group.

Their interest in my connection to the Jesuits allowed me to share the wonderful work of the Jesuits of Canada, particularly Fr. Wong. It also gave me the opportunity to speak about the impact of the donations we receive, particularly in the formation/education of Jesuits and the care of our elderly Jesuits.

One of the joys of this pilgrimage was daily Mass where we prayed for our own needs, the intentions of donors, and the Jesuits. It is moments like these when we are grateful for men like Fr. Wong who are called to work in the Vineyard of the Lord.

While it was an exciting journey filled with historic sites, it was also a deeply moving experience as a Christian. It was a great honour and privilege to be able to pray for the friends and donors of the Jesuits. Below are just a few of the extraordinary places we visited.

In Turkey, some of the interesting places we saw were the House of the Virgin Mary, the ruins of Ephesus, the Great Theatre – where it is believed that Saint John preached to the Ephesians, and the Basilica of Saint John. It was constructed in the 6th century upon St. John's burial ground. A trip to Turkey would not be complete without a visit to the Grand Bazaar, the largest and oldest covered bazaar with more than 4,000 shops!

We continued to Cairo, Egypt where we visited the pyramids of Giza, the Sphinx and the Egyptian Museum. In Sinai, we passed through the arid desert where Moses roamed then we arrived at Saint Catherine's Monastery. This is where Moses is said to have received the Ten Commandments. It is also at St. Catherine's where we saw the Biblical Burning Bush.

Crossing into Israel, we visited the Dead Sea. In Jericho, we saw the sycamore tree Zacchaeus climbed up to see Jesus. While there, we also had a view of the Mount of Temptation. Walking along the Via Dolorosa, where Jesus took his final earthly steps before his crucifixion, was an incredibly moving experience. The cobblestone road from the Herodian Period takes pilgrims to the site of the last stations and finally Golgotha.

We had Mass at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and saw the original tomb where Jesus was buried. We were able to place our hands on the rock where Jesus' body was laid in the tomb. In the Church of Cana, where Jesus turned water into wine, we celebrated Mass, and most of our married pilgrims renewed their wedding vows. It was a joyous occasion.

At the Sea of Galilee, we had a boat ride in a replica of the fishing boat of Jesus' time. We continued to Nazareth to visit the Church of the Annunciation, Mary's Well, the Church of Saint Joseph, and the Jordan River to see where Jesus was baptized. One of the last places we stopped at was the Mount of Beatitudes, where Jesus gave His Sermon on the Mount. ■

Have you remembered the Jesuits in your will?

By remembering the Jesuits in your will, you can help prepare young men to work in the vineyard of the Lord and sustain elderly Jesuits who have given their lives to Christ and His Church.

JESUITS

IN MEMORIAM

BROTHER JOHN MASTERTSON, SJ

FEB. 15, 1930 - APR. 5, 2023

Brother John Masterson died on April 5 at René Goupil House, the Province infirmary in Pickering. He was in his 93rd year and in the 69th year of his Jesuit life. Bro. Masterson was born in Chesterville, ON and entered the Society of Jesus in February 1955. In 1959, he journeyed to Milford, OH for a two-year juniorate program. Being an accomplished mechanic and carpenter, he plied his trades in various locales over the years: two years at Guelph, eight years at Brebeuf College School, Toronto, and six years at Regis College, Willowdale.

In 1978, Bro. Masterson was appointed assistant director of Loyola Retreat House, Guelph. There was much to supervise in the kitchen, and he regularly assisted retreatants and directors with the myriad of requests and issues. Ten years later, he moved to the provincial's residence in Toronto. He was director of a refugee centre; he also assisted in the Province's property office. After the Jesuits of Upper Canada Province novitiate joined another one at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Bro. Masterson was appointed minister there in 1995, serving admirably until 2004. He was truly a role model for the novices and the novice masters with whom he served. After he left the US, he went to the Hevey Jesuit Community in Toronto, serving as assistant to the superior. In 2008, he moved to La Storta Residence in Pickering, and served as assistant to the superior. He occupied his time in house works and helped with visitors. In 2013, he was transferred to the infirmary. Brother will be remembered as a prayerful, generous, and welcoming man. ■

FATHER JEAN-GUY SAINT-ARNAUD, SJ

DEC. 31, 1934 - JAN. 20, 2023

Father Jean-Guy Saint-Arnaud died on January 20, at the Residence Notre-Dame de Richelieu, where he had been living since April 2020. He was 88 years old and had been suffering from leukemia for several years.

Fr. Saint-Arnaud was born in Montreal and entered the Society of Jesus in August 1954. After his first stage of studies, he completed three years of regency at the Collège de Saint-Boniface, in Manitoba, where he taught philosophy from 1961 to 1964. At the end of his third year of theological studies, he was ordained to the priesthood in June 1967. In 1968, he enrolled in the graduate program at the University of Strasbourg in order to obtain a doctorate in religious studies. His dissertation was on St. John Henry Newman, who would inspire him throughout his apostolic life and in his reflection on faith and non-belief. He taught philosophy and directed college studies at Collège Brébeuf from 1970 to 1976. This was followed with work in the Centre de spiritualité Manrèse in Quebec City from 1976 to 1999. From 1999 to 2019, he devoted his time to writing, directing 8-day and 30-day retreats, and facilitating general and provincial chapters of congregations in Canada and internationally. He also gave conferences and received people for spiritual guidance. He was a gifted teacher who had a great love for the Society, which was expressed in his attention to the study of the founding texts and the decrees of the General Congregations. He was the superior of two small Jesuit communities in Quebec City. In the six books he published, in addition to his doctoral dissertation, he dealt with subjects that he first addressed in his teaching, including spiritual discernment, which was particularly close to his heart. He also wrote many articles. On the occasion of his 50th anniversary in the Society, in 2004, Father Kolvenbach, then Superior General, underscored in a letter what Fr. Saint-Arnaud had accomplished in his apostolic service. Among other things, he wrote: "Your activity has brought you to travel in Quebec and abroad and has put you in contact with many local churches and their members. You have been available to share the Word of God with them and to invite them to focus on the essential, the person of Christ. In the name of the Society, thank you for helping those who have come to you to better understand the demands and the importance of an authentic spiritual life." ■

To help renew our sense of religious imagination in our polarized world today we need to think, pray, and respond to one another beyond our religious stereotypes, but as deepening human beings first and foremost.

FATHER TREVOR SCOTT, SJ

Father Trevor Scott, SJ was ordained a Jesuit priest in 2013. After his studies, he worked in the Ignatian spirituality apostolate in Halifax and Montreal, where he created and conducted Ignatian based retreats and spirituality workshops. He provided personal spiritual direction. Fr. Scott also served as the Ecclesial Assistant to the Christian Life Community of Canada - an international lay religious association whose members strive to live out the Ignatian charism. He was also the Jesuit liaison to the Atlantic Association of the Spiritual Exercises Apostolate - an association of lay spiritual directors in the Ignatian tradition. Fr. Scott now serves as the Co-ordinator of the Jesuit Forum for Social Faith and Justice, Toronto and is a sessional professor at Regis College where his focus is on the relationship of Ignatian spirituality and contemporary culture.

JESUITS
of Canada

Your contribution to the Jesuit Office of Advancement provides the needed financial support for the education and formation of our Jesuit scholastics in their vocation to become brothers and priests. Your gift also assists in the healthcare and housing for the older and infirm Jesuits. In turn, the Jesuits are ever mindful of you, our friends and benefactors, in our Masses and prayers.
